Stoddard County EMA Providing Relief

Stoddard County EMA Providing Relief

During emergency conditions that we are facing now, a community many times gets to see the best of people. That is so true for the Stoddard County Emergency Management Agency Team.

After retiring from Dexter Public Schools, Kent Polsgrove was appointed and is now experiencing his first true emergency as the director of the EMS group. But organization and team work comes easy to Kent as he is surrounded by a group of dedicated professionals willing and ready to assist Stoddard County residence with their needs throughout these tough times.

Carol Moreland has been with the E911 group for a number of years and knows the ropes of emergencies. During the Ice Storm of 2010, Carol was instrumental in coordinating much of the relief efforts that were essential to our community.

However, the idea of emergency management is not new to Stoddard County or the Dexter Community. This group has always observed the "5P's" of Prior Planning Prevents Poor Performance. The incredible vision of our Stoddard County Commissioners (Greg Mathis, Carol Jarrell and Frank Sifford) has given a strong focus on the development of the emergency services in our county.

This does not occur by accident. The strength of our Stoddard County

Ambulance District under the leadership of David Cooper is a major piece of the puzzle.

Our commissioners see fit to created a strong combined effort throughout the emergency groups to make certain the that effectiveness and efficiencies are being used to the benefit of all citizens.

Stoddard County has always held a high position with preparedness for emergency events. Most recently, an emergency plan developed a "Bunker Room" during the construction of the new facilities of SCAD. This room is complete with the communication, mapping

A Rainbow Following The Storms

A Rainbow Following The Storms

It may seem as though the region has seen nothing but rain and storms, hail and high winds for days on end ... but there was a reminder in the sky Wednesday evening that calmer days are ahead. A rainbow popped into view after 5 p.m. over Dexter - reminding of an Irish saying: "For every storm a rainbow, for every tear a smile, for every care a promise and a blessing in each trial. For every problem life sends, a faithful friend to share, for every sigh a sweet song and an answer for each prayer."

Contest Goes Beyond Peanuts & Soil

Contest Goes Beyond Peanuts & Soil

By Annabeth Miller, ShowMe Times Editor

If quizzed, most people who know will say that George Washington Carver is most famous for his work with the peanut.

And while the native Missourian is best known for his ground-breaking work on the little peanut, did much more work – work that continues to have a significant impact in our lives decades after Carver's death.

Missouri Department of Agriculture Director Dr. Jon Hagler announced that there are just two weeks left for elementary students to participate in the George Washington Carver Essay Contest. The annual statewide contest is open to young people in grades 4, 5, and 6 and the deadline is April 30.

"George Washington Carver's contributions to agriculture are a great example of the importance of education and the power of positive thinking," said Hagler. "It's appropriate that we celebrate the legacy of this great Missourian and outstanding friend to agriculture during the height of planting season."

Students are encouraged to write a creative and inspirational essay related to this year's theme, "If George Washington Carver were my teacher..."

George Washington Carver's story of starting life in slavery and becoming a prominent businessman and scholar is not only compelling, but also positions him as an outstanding role model. His accomplishments, from advocating for soil conservation to identifying 300 uses for peanuts, continue to influence the agriculture industry.

The outstanding essay for each grade level will receive a $100 savings bond, and the top essay will receive a $200 savings bond.

Essays will be judged on creativity, originality, correctness of George Washington Carver facts and idea development, as well as grammar, word choice and organization.

Entries should be postmarked or hand-delivered to the Missouri Department of Agriculture in Jefferson City no later than April 30, 2011.

Pink Delivers Punch Against Cancer

Pink Delivers Punch Against Cancer

By Annabeth Miller, ShowMe Times Editor

Dexter's T.S. Hill Middle School volleyball girls worked hard on the court all season - finishing with a perfect season. It was a volleyball season to remember.

But these young ladies will be remembered for something else other than their emerging skill in a sport. They will be remembered for their heart, enthusiasm, and care for others.

Earlier this month the middle school teams hosted a "Dig Pink" volleyball game to raise awareness about and funds for the fight against breast cancer. And in the planning of the event the teams voted that funds raised would stay here at home. So the team designated the money for the 18 Fore Life Foundation to help local women with breast cancer.

Thursday night was the culmination of their project when the girls presented the local foundation with donation of monumental proportions.

The teams presented Scott Kruse of the 18 Fore Life Foundation with a check for $2,133.95 from the Dig Pink game.

Kruse noted the girls have proven to be champions on the volleyball court, but that their efforts "shows an understanding of wanting to do something more than just win games."

Coach Melissa Hahn said the teams'huddle saying is "How do we play? HARD. SMART. TOGETHER!!"

"These girls are smart, work hard, and together can make a very big different in our community."

Talent Abounds At Richland

Talent Abounds At Richland

*By Jessi Shidler, of the Rebel Yeller
and special to the ShowMe Times*

ESSEX, Mo. - Richland High School music teacher Amber Duley recently resurrected an old school tradition - the Talent Show for students and faculty.

The show featured plenty of dancing, singing, music-making, sign language, and hilarious acts. Parents, grandparents, teachers, and students came to watch their friends or family in the talent show.

The Richland band paid for a light setting to make the show more professional. After expenses, the Richland band made $1,000 toward band and music equipment. Two days before the talent show, the music department keyboard had stopped working. That is one of the things on the list of things to replace with the profits.

Some of the acts included Saturday Night Live acts by Richland staff members, percussion assembles, dance-offs, and lots of singing!

“I could not have been more pleased with the outcome of the talent show!” says Duley, “Everything ran so smoothly, more so than I expected, which is due to the efforts of backstage personnel, including Mrs. Monroe, Mrs. Rhodes, Mallory Hillis, and many other teachers, parents, and students. The audience turnout was also fantastic and beyond my expectations!”

Duley is bringing back the tradition of hosting a talent show every year for the community and school. Everyone had a ball and enjoyed watching the fun and talent.

“I have received comments and congratulations too numerous to count in regards to the talent show,” says Duley. “My Facebook page is overflowing with positive feedback! I am so grateful for all the kind words and support from everyone in the entire school district and surrounding communities. I can’t wait for next year!”

Speaking of next year, the band is planning to use the gym in a graduation-style set up, for more room and better viewing. They will utilize both sets of bleachers and sell in advance floor seats in front of the stage. Next year, they will also have the talent show on a Friday, or any day when there is not school following.

The band is in the process of making a DVD-ROM of all the performances from the talent show. They will be selling them for $10 each.
