Wintry Start to the New Year!

Dexter, Missouri -Southeast Missouri may expect a treacherous start to 2013. The National Weather Service at Paducah, Kentucky has issued a winter weather advisory for Scott, New Madrid and Mississippi counties beginning this afternoon and overnight. At this time there are no watches or warnings.

According to the weather service, “a mixed bag of winter precipitation” is expected for our region.

Other counties in the area including Stoddard County will see rain; however with the dropping of temperatures freezing rain may be expected. This will make driving conditions after dark somewhat treacherous for the New Year’s Eve holiday.

Everyone should be aware of the changing weather conditions as they may be out late celebrating. Most of the wintry weather will be north into the Cape Girardeau area where they will see a 70% chance of snow mixed with sleet or ice.

Have a Happy New Year and please be safe this holiday season!
