Essex, Missouri - The Richland Rebels have dedicated this week to celebrating their drug free lives by participating in the nationwide activity: Red Ribbon Week. Yesterday's dress up day was Crazy Hair Day, which students of all ages and grades participated in. Although the lower elementary students had the most participants, the fifth graders took great pride in showing their favorite dress up day in the week with their crazy hairdos.

Tomorrow, the Rebels will be celebrating Red Rebel Day by wearing school colors and their Rebel attire to support their Junior High Basketball players who will be playing at home. The Rebels will also be watching a movie in the gymnasium in celebration of their early release at noon and the end of Disability Awareness month.
