St. Francis to Host Women's Heart-Health Luncheon

Cape Girardeau, Missouri - Heart disease can happen at any age, so what can be done to prevent and detect it? Women are invited to learn about the signs of heart disease and the steps for prevention at every stage of life during the eighth annual Heart to Heart Luncheon Wednesday, March 25, at Drury Lodge, 104 South Vantage Drive. The event will feature exhibits and screenings prior to the keynote presentation by Esther S.H. Kim, MD, MPH, women's heart health expert and physician at the Cleveland Clinic.

Heart disease is the leading cause of death for women in the United States, causing one in three deaths each year, according to the American Heart Association[®].

Ninety percent of women have one or more risk factors for developing heart disease. The Heart to Heart Luncheon, hosted by Saint Francis Medical Center and supported by committee members from the community, is an annual event committed to raising awareness of women's unique risk factors for heart disease and is a great forum for learning how to better care for your heart. The luncheon is just one of Saint Francis' efforts to increase awareness of heart disease prevention and treatment in Southeast Missouri.

Dr. Kim is a researcher and physician on staff at Cleveland Clinic, specializing in general cardiology, preventive cardiology, women's heart health, and vascular medicine. A graduate of Duke University School of Medicine, Dr. Kim also holds a master's in public health from the University of North Carolina and completed an Internal Medicine residency at Johns Hopkins before coming to Cleveland Clinic where she completed fellowships in Cardiology and Vascular Medicine before joining the staff in 2008.
