Dexter School Choir Hosts Trivia Night

Fundraiser To Help Local Students Perform at Six Flags of Mid America

Dexter, Missouri - If you possess the incredible talent and ability to answer bizarre, off the wall questions, then you should have been at the Church of Christ activity building this Friday night. The T S Hill Middle School choir group tested everyone's general knowledge by hosting a fundraising trivia night.

The event was well attended with over 60 organizers, student workers and participants forming over seven trivia teams for the fun filled night of competition. The night consisted of 100 questions split over ten rounds of various categories. Many of the questions were difficult enough to make a Trivia Crack junkie scratch their heads.

Tonight's event was a make up date  of a previously scheduled event that was cancelled due to inclement and snowy weather. There were plenty of snacks and desserts on hand for the crowd.

 Jamie Sepulvado, Dexter's middle school choir teacher, helped to organize the event to help pay for an upcoming trip her choir group will be taking to St. Louis to perform at Six Flags Over Mid-America. The trip, scheduled for early May of this year, will have several Missouri schools performing and competing in a choral competition.

If you would like more information or would like to support their upcoming trip, please contact Jamie Sepulvado at [email=jamies@dexter.k12.mo.us.
