NFL Players Host Weekend Youth Football Camp

Hayti, Missouri - Atlanta Falcons Pro Bowl safety William Moore and Carolina Panthers defensive end Kony Ealy hosted a free youth football camp Saturday, July 11th at Hayti High School.

Moore, a Hayti graduate and Ealy, a New Madrid County Central graduate, both played college football at the University of Missouri - Columbia before entering the NFL.

The free camp took place from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Hayti High School, 500 N. 4th St.

According to a press release sent to the ShowMe Times from Select Sports Group, "The camp provides 250 youth ages six to 18 with the opportunity to improve their technical football skills and teamwork, while building sportsmanship and self-esteem both on and off the field."

Each participant received a T-shirt, meal, goodie bag and refreshments. They also had the opportunity to meet and learn from Moore and Ealy on-site.

The William Moore and Kony Ealy Youth Football Camp is made possible by the NFL Foundation, Atlanta Falcons, Carolina Panthers, Hayti High School, KCRV-FM 105.1 Classic Hits, Skeeter Kell Sporting Goods, Hays Store, The Store, State Farm Representative Cortney Gardner and Panini America.
