Special Weather Statement for Stoddard County TONIGHT!

Stoddard County, MO - The National Weather Service in Paducah, KY has issued a Special Weather Statement.

Description

...Light wintry precipitation expected tonight...

Across portions of southern Missouri southeast of a Cape Girardeau to Poplar Bluff line, far southern Illinois south of Route 13, and west Kentucky, expect patchy light rain and sleet this evening to change to a mix of light snow, sleet, and freezing rain overnight.

Significant accumulations are not expected, but slippery conditions may develop on lesser traveled roads and elevated or untreated surfaces.

More significant amounts of wintry precipitation are expected to the north, such as southwest Indiana, the Marion Carbondale area, and the Ozark foothills of southeast Missouri.

Use extra caution when traveling overnight and during the early morning commute.

Weather provided by Bagby Wealth Management.
